Each slot is 20 minutes long. We expect your talk to last about 15 minutes; we'll stop you if you're still talking after 16-17 minutes.

Each talk will be followed by a few minutes for questions from the audience.

If talks go fast, members of an individual stream may agree to move the schedule forward, ie move the talks from session 2 to session 1 and finish early etc. This will only happen on the agreement of all affected parties.

Useful/Important Information

Phone numbers

Gregynog Hall: 01686 650224
Computer Science, SU 01792 295651 or 01792 295393

On Monday morning

Meet outside Fulton House before 9.00am. There will be a head count – don't make us late!

Emergency on Monday? Can't make it? Call 07765804753 or 01792 295651 between 8.40am & 9.00am.

In case of emergencies

If you need discover a fire, sound the alarm at the nearest break-glass point.

If alarm sounds: leave by nearest safe fire exit; go to front of building, by bridge.

If you need a member of staff overnight, here's where to find some of us:

Chris (room G2, Ground Floor) Markus (room C8 courtyard) Uli (room C2, Courtyard)

Medical emergency: contact a CS staff member as above, or Gregynog staff via internal phones at reception, in front hall, and on second floor landing (call 230 or refer to sign). As a last resort, the Director can be reached on internal number 237.

General Information

Guests are requested to maintain quiet after midnight.

More generally, please behave like responsible adults & don't embarrass us or yourselves.

Main house doors are locked at midnight. If you're likely to be out later than this, please inform the night duty staff.

Gregynog operates a no smoking policy throughout the hall.

In our experience, mobile phones generally do not work in the main Gregynog building. Some networks and phones can receive a signal in the grounds and at the back windows of the Seminar Room 1.

The nearest cash point is 6 miles away. There is a shop in reception, however, which does cash back.

Email/internet facilities are available on public network computers located in several rooms throughout the Hall.

Room keys will be charged at £15 per key, if mislaid.
